CAPABILITY STATEMENT

ABOUT BIANCA STAWIARSKI

Bianca Stawiarski is a highly skilled and motivated Badimaya (Indigenous) woman sought mainly for her integrity and ability to engage and empower people, specifically; to explore, embrace and reconnect with their inner fire. She enthuses calming, earthy Indigenous connectedness in everything she does and has the specialised ability to engage, facilitate and deliver unique mindset changing programs and trauma-informed therapeutic support – at times working with what people are saying beneath their words. This skill is specifically beneficial during times of high stress, such as mental health issues or responses to trauma, Machinery of Government or Organisational changes.

Recognised by local, State, National and International organisations / media for her ability to facilitate change; she is regularly sought by state / national or international bodies to create and deliver sensitive and engaging programs both online or in person; or to reach audiences through publishing her work. Bianca is also sought for her engaging training style – whether that be in wellbeing or business facilitation areas.

As one in four people in Australia have had or currently have a mental illness, all of Bianca's work is balanced and underpinned with her experience as a trauma-informed counsellor. She has a Childsafe RAN, and Working with Children and Working with Vulnerable People clearance as well as a National Police Check.
