

CAPABILITY STATEMENT

Bianca Stawiarski

ABN: 57 628 153 855

Founder and Managing Director of Warida Wholistic Wellness—a Supply Nation and Social Traders Certified international Indigenous social enterprise—Bianca Stawiarski is a strong, centred, and purpose-driven healer, consultant, global speaker, lecturer, best-selling and international co-author, trainer, and change-maker.

A sought-after expert and specialist, Bianca is engaged by Local, State, National, and International organisations, as well as Government departments and agencies, for her ability to create and facilitate sensitive, engaging, and transformative programs—both online and in person. Through her dynamic, uplifting, and engaging training style, she delivers impactful sessions across mental health and wellbeing, business, and the support of First Nations peoples and women.

Bianca infuses her calming, resilient, earthy, Indigenous connectedness into all that she does. At all times, she draws upon her Badimaya / Badimia (First Nations) and Ukrainian heritages, connection to decolonised wisdom, sense of community and holistic healing approaches.

Global Expertise & Impact

As an international exporter of services since 2020, Bianca's work extends beyond borders, providing specialist consultancy, coaching - personal and business, counselling, and facilitation grounded in Indigenous ways of knowing, being, and doing. Organisations and individuals across the globe seek her expertise to deliver innovative, mindset-shifting programs that foster healing, empowerment, and sustainable change.

She founded Warida Wholistic Wellness as an international Indigenous social enterprise, originally in September 2015 under a different name, moving to a company structure in October 2018:

Our Vision

Our vision is to empower women to embrace healing on their own terms, while challenging and transforming systems that restrict their wellbeing.

Our Purpose

Our purpose is to welcome and support a diversity of women, honouring their unique experiences of wellbeing. We empower women to heal through connection in a culturally safe way, grounded in respect for Country and embracing the Ethos of Gudu-Guduwa (coming together).

Our Impact

Our Impact is to create pathways for strategic peacebuilding and to foster strong, empowered families and communities. We focus on supporting Australian First Nations peoples impacted by trauma to heal through culturally safe connections. By providing volunteering, training, and employment opportunities within our business, we aim to enhance mental wellbeing and drive the economic empowerment of Australian First Nations peoples.

Unique Approach & Expertise

Bianca's extensive qualifications and lived experience, combined with decades of work across diverse sectors—including the Commonwealth Government—equip her with a highly specialised, trauma-informed, and culturally integrated approach. A licensed provider of We Al-li Programs' Trauma-Informed, Culturally Integrated Healing Approach Workshops, Bianca ensures that all support provided is culturally safe, trauma-informed, and empowering.

Her PhD research strengthens her practice, embedding Indigenous wisdom with evidence-based methodologies exploring whether a community-led circular research model can positively impact women's empowerment (mental health) programs for entrepreneurship. This academic and practical expertise further solidifies Bianca's role as a leader in Indigenous-led healing, self-determination, and international service delivery.

Recognition & Legacy

Through Warida Wholistic Wellness and Burany Press, Bianca not only provides holistic healing but also elevates First Nations voices through publishing and knowledge-sharing. Her impact has been recognised through national and international publications, speaking engagements in the United Kingdom, New Zealand, Ukraine & Russia, and the United States, and collaborations that challenge outdated systems and promote true economic and personal empowerment.

With a commitment to self-determined healing, education, and leadership, Bianca continues to reshape the narrative for Indigenous peoples and women worldwide, ensuring their voices, knowledge, and experiences are centred in all spaces.

International Competitive Success

Bianca Stawiarski is not only a leader in healing and empowerment but also an internationally recognised athlete. She is an international medallist in the field of Horse Archery, having successfully competed in Texas, USA (2014 & 2015) and Pennsylvania, USA (2015). Bianca holds the distinction of being the first Aboriginal woman to compete internationally and receive trophies in the sport.

Beyond her own achievements, Bianca has given back to the community by sharing her skills and knowledge with the next generation. She has taught children and youth across South Australia, Victoria, and Tasmania through Pony Clubs, inspiring them to embrace confidence, discipline, and cultural connection through the ancient art of Horse Archery.

This global sporting success is a testament to Bianca's determination, resilience, and commitment to both personal excellence and community empowerment.

Award Recognition

Bianca Stawiarski's groundbreaking work in trauma-informed healing, cultural empowerment, and social enterprise has been recognised through numerous national and international awards. Her dedication to self-determined healing, Indigenous leadership, and economic empowerment has earned her accolades for her expertise, service, and impact; with her contributions to mental health, business, and First Nations empowerment have positioned her as a leader in innovative, community-led solutions.
